Full of Tragic Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simmons of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases. Prevents grip and pneumonia. At the Red Cross Pharmacy and Parlor Drug Store. Guaranteed. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup seems especially adapted to the needs of the children. Pleasant to take; soothing in its influence. It is the remedy of all remedies for every form of throat and lung disease.

Ten thousand demons gnawing away at one's vitals couldn't be much worse than the tortures of itching piles. Yet there's a cure. Doan's Ointment never fails.

NOTICE.

Whereas, It has been the custom in years past for the several merchants to contribute goods, wares and merchandise to society fairs of every kind and sort upon the urgent request of a soliciting committee from the society proposing to hold such fair or amusement; and

Whereas, It has become a burden upon one and all of the merchants composing this association, and is becoming a greater burden each year; Therefore be it

Resolved, by this association in meeting assembled, that it is the sense of this meeting that the practice of giving presents or prizes, as well as the practice of inserting advertisements in programmes is detrimental to good business, and an injury to all, and is to be condemned; and

Resolved further, that we, each and all, agree to discontinue the same as far as we are individually concerned from this date.

Dated at Barre, Vt., Oct. 28, 1904.

WHAT HE WANTED.

New York Salesman Did Not Find It Until He Reached Barre.

Irvine Johnson, a drummer who is well known to many of our merchants, was in town yesterday, stopping at the City Hotel, where the Times man heard him tell a few new stories that he had collected on his last trip.

"I am glad to see," said Mr. Johnson, "that Barre is right up-to-date in cigars as well as in other things. I have been hunting for a Wadsworth Bros. Chicos in the last half dozen towns, and did not find one until I went into C. H. Kendrick & Co.'s drug store this morning. That cigar is all right, I can tell you, and although it cost only 5c, yet I push them out to my customers, knowing that they will think it is a 10c or two for a quarter."

The Wadsworth Bros. Chicos is an all Havana filled cigar that smokes just as a cigar ought from start to finish, burning evenly with a long, clean, firm ash.

Its flavor appeals to the lover of high grade cigars, and its price to all sensible smokers.

Young Dr. Noel had not practiced long enough to have developed those callousities of the heart which are essential to a physician's financial success. And he had, after a heroic struggle, lost a patient—a man who left a widow and $2,500 insurance. It was shortly after the funeral, and Dr. Noel was somewhat worried as to what should be his method of procedure with regard to his fee.

He had called into consultation, in his treatment of the case, old Dr. L'Herve, the nestor of the medical fraternity, and to him he now appealed for advice.

"The widow is inconsolable," he said, concluding his explanation, "and I think that a sense of decency forbids my presenting a bill at once."

The patriarch stroked his long beard thoughtfully. "Inconsolable, is she?" he inquired.

"Yes, absolutely east down."

"Has she collected the insurance?"

"Yes, I believe—I am sure—she has."

"Well, my boy," said the old man slowly, "you would better present your bill at once, while she is inconsolable and has the money. While she is inconsolable and has the money she will not be disposed to quibble over fees. Her appreciation of the departed is at its flood and money is easy. Later she may be consoled and tighten the purse strings. A sense of decency is a fine thing, young man, but it should not stand in the way of business."

The moral of this story is that this is a sordid age, but we've got to play the game.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.
